TOOT! TOOT! HERE COMES MISS DAVIS'S OWN BAND

Reformatory Boys to Play as Treat to Blackwell Island's Sick and Imprisoned.

Commissioner of Correction Davis is going to show her appreciation of the fifty good boys in the City Reformatory Band by allowing them "a trip to the island," Saturday, where they will go from place to place unburdening their musical souls of every melody they ever loaded up with while doing time.

It is not Coney the band is going to, but Blackwell's. You see, the band is stationed on Hart's Island and a trip to Blackwell's from there is, to a prisoner, as joyous an event as a journey of a regular Manhattanite to the seashore.
First the band will play at the penitentiary. After that the City Hospital, the City Home, Workhouse and Metropolitan Hospital will be visited.
At the Workhouse, Warden Fox will give the boys a "picnic lunch." At the penitentiary the band will play while the 1,400 prisoners are eating. Commissioner Davis will accompany her band.

GOULD ON STAND DENIES HEINZE'S STORY OF DICKER

Called Hastily to Testify When Copper Man Suddenly Closes Defense.

Following the abrupt termination to-day of F. Augustus Heinze's defense to the suit for $1,000,000 brought against him by Edwin Gould, the railroad man and financier took the witness stand before Supreme Court Justices Page and a jury and in short, snappy answers told what an impression the Copper King made upon New York financiers when he came out of the West with his millions and began to case about for the presidency of the Mercantile National Bank, to wrest control of which Heinze is alleged to have given Gould notes amounting to $1,000,000.

Gould did not expect to be called to-day and was on his way to his country home when he was recalled to New York. He had expected, as had the crowd that gathered in the court room, that Charles W. Morse, the former ice king, would be called as a witness for Heinze, but the latter closed his defense without calling Morse. According to an announcement made by Judge Alton B. Parker for Gould, Morse probably will be called as a witness for Gould.

On direct examination, Gould flatly denied Heinze's testimony that he, Gould, called upon Heinze at the latter's office, accompanied by a man named Taylor, who was described by Heinze as Gould's "mouthpiece," and offered to sell him blocks of stock in the Mercantile National and the Bowling Green Trust Company, with inducements. The witness acknowledged that he offered to make Heinze a director in one or the other of the two banks, but that the offer had been made by him at the Bowling Green Trust Company some time before Oct. 15, 1906.

"I had been told that Mr. Heinze had come from the West with a substantial fortune and we were desirous

ACTRESS TELLS SECRET

A Well Known Actress Tells How She Darkened Her Gray Hair and Promoted Its Growth With a Simple Home Made Mixture.

Miss Blanche Rose, a well known actress, who darkened her gray hair with a simple preparation which she mixed at home, in a recent interview at Chicago, Ill., made the following statement: "Any lady or gentleman can darken their gray hair and make it soft and glossy with this simple recipe, which they can mix at home. To a half pint of water add 1 oz. of bay rum, a small box of Barbo Compound and 1/4 oz. of glycerine. These ingredients can be bought at any drug store at very little cost. Apply to the hair twice a week until it becomes the required shade. This will make a gray haired person look 20 years younger. It is also fine to promote the growth of hair, relieves itching and scalp humors and is excellent for dandruff and falling hair."—Adv.

of having him on the directorate of either the Mercantile National or the Bowling Green Trust Company," said Gould.

"I had been informed that Mr. Heinze desired to become President of the Mercantile and I advised him against it, as Mr. Schenck the then President, was a highly efficient executive and had the complete confidence of the depositors.

"I understood that Mr. Heinze held some shares of Mercantile, but I did not know the number."
Gould had considerable difficulty in making himself heard, a fact that was brought to his attention by Heinze, who was straining his ears and leaning over the lawyer's table in an effort to get every word. Gould paused, looked at Heinze, smiled, and raised his voice.

"On the morning of Jan. 8, 1907," Gould continued, "I rode downtown in Mr. Morse's automobile, and he asked me how much I would take for my stock. We finally agreed on $325 a share for my own stock and that of my associates."

The witness then told of the fight to control the bank. He said that in the car that morning he took Morse to task for supporting Heinze and that Morse retaliated by condemning him for supporting Schenck for the presidency.

Senator Brackett, chief counsel for Heinze, cross examined Gould. The witness smiled at his opponent's lawyer's questions, admitting that he had a nodding acquaintance with Heinze when the two were students at Columbia.

"Do you still claim on your oath that Morse did not sell your stock for you to Heinze after the acknowledgment in the agreement you drew up with Morse?" asked Senator Brackett. Gould did not reply.

"As a matter of fact, you knew that Heinze had come back with millions and you were not backward about taking his notes," said Mr. Brackett.

"Yes," replied Gould.
"You knew he had about ten millions?" the lawyer inquired.

"Yes," said Gould smiling.
"And it smelled good, didn't it?" asked the Senator.

"Yes," replied Gould with a laugh. In which the spectators and jurors joined until Justice Page rapped for order.

STREET CARS IN CRASH.

Conductor Hurled Through Glass Partition—Passengers Cut.

The switch at Columbus avenue and Sixty-fifth street, where Broadway crosses both thoroughfares, was set improperly at 11 o'clock to-day so that a northbound Columbus avenue surface car was sent onto the Broadway tracks, crashing into a heavily loaded and car with such force that windows in the car were smashed and the passengers, thrown from their seats, were covered with broken glass. The conductor of the sand car was catapulted through a glass partition and his face and hands were cut.

Miss Constance Velich, a singer, of No. 301 West Fifty-sixth street was cut badly about the chest and Mrs. Gertrude Cavanagh of No. 68 West Ninety-sixth street was cut and her back and side bruised.

An ambulance from Flower Hospital took Miss Velich to her home and Mrs. Cavanagh went home in a taxicab after the surgeon had dressed her injuries. The line was blocked for half an hour.

WHEN CONSUMPTION IS CURABLE

Every case of Tuberculosis passes through its curable stage, which is often of a year's duration—plenty of time to be cured, if the disease is only recognized and properly treated before the incurable stage overtakes the patient.

If you fear that there has been failure to correctly diagnose or understand your case, call on Dr. Anderson, Specialist in Throat and Lung Diseases, and an expert in diagnosis by special X-Ray examination.

He discovers the very earliest signs of throat and lung trouble while the disease is yet in its curable stage. Investigate his treatment and find out your real condition by expert diagnosis. It costs you nothing to find out for yourself, because office consultation and examination are given without charge.
